

RENEWING PURPOSE | FR-TAP

First Responder Transition Assistance Program (FR-TAP)

Finding what's next after public safety.

Leaving the job that once defined you doesn't have to mean losing your purpose.

Peer-delivered support for First Responders retiring or separating from public safety, and for the families making that change with them.

Where FR-TAP walks beside you

What FR-TAP includes

Career guidance. Help thinking through what comes next and building a clear path toward it.

Continued mental health support. Counseling that doesn't end when the badge or the uniform comes off, with the same no-cost, confidential care.

Family inclusion. Spouses and families go through the transition too, so they're part of the process from the start.

Peer-delivered. Support from people who understand the culture of the job and what it means to leave it.

Who it's for

Colorado First Responders who are:

- Within five years of retirement
- Going through medical retirement
- Separating from service for any reason
- Already retired and finding the adjustment harder than expected

How to join FR-TAP

1 Reach out

Call 719.822.3387, email contact@sc4i.org or use the form on sc4i.org.

2 Assess

Attend an intake appointment and complete an assessment to decide where to focus your transition.

3 Plan

Work with a peer to build a transition plan for you and your family.

One chapter of service ends. Another begins.

The First Responder to Counselor Scholarship offers a path to become a counselor for the community you once served, with university partners CCU, UCCS, GCU and Colorado State University Global.

No cost. No pressure. No referral required.
